Message from the President....

Greetings neighbors,

The weather is cooling and we're in for some long needed rain. Take a moment to check and clear the nearby storm drains of leaves, trash and debris.

In this edition is an update of the Lutherville Station Time Line which can be found on the next page and includes links to source documentation.

For more information on the Lutherville Station updates go to: The Lutherville Community Association

This update includes many of LCA efforts since the definitive community meeting in November of 2021. Yes, we've been busy all these years working to ensure what eventually happens at this site is an asset to the community.

Also in this issue is an article on the Councilmatic redistricting map. All the credit for this success goes to the community for stepping up and speaking up.

We can make a difference if we work together and take just a little time to write or call our elected leaders.

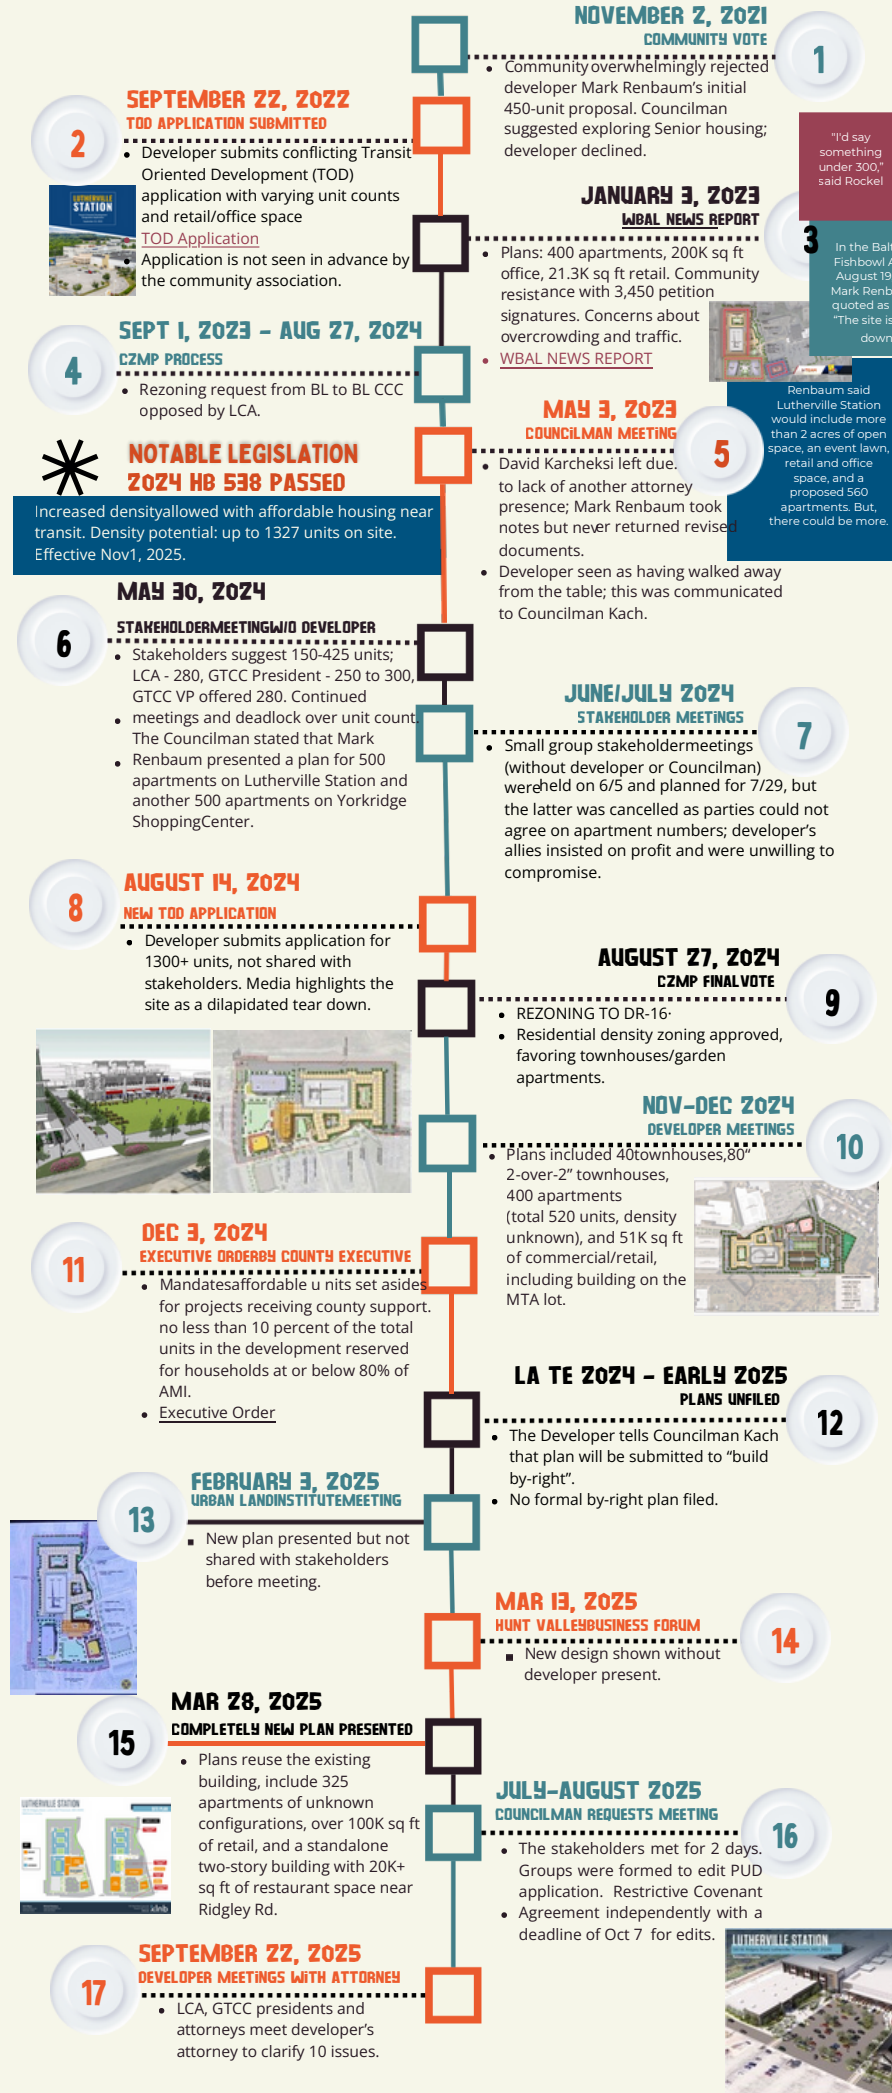

Thanks for being there when we reach out.

Pamela K Shaw

Final Redistricting Map - Approved 9/15/25

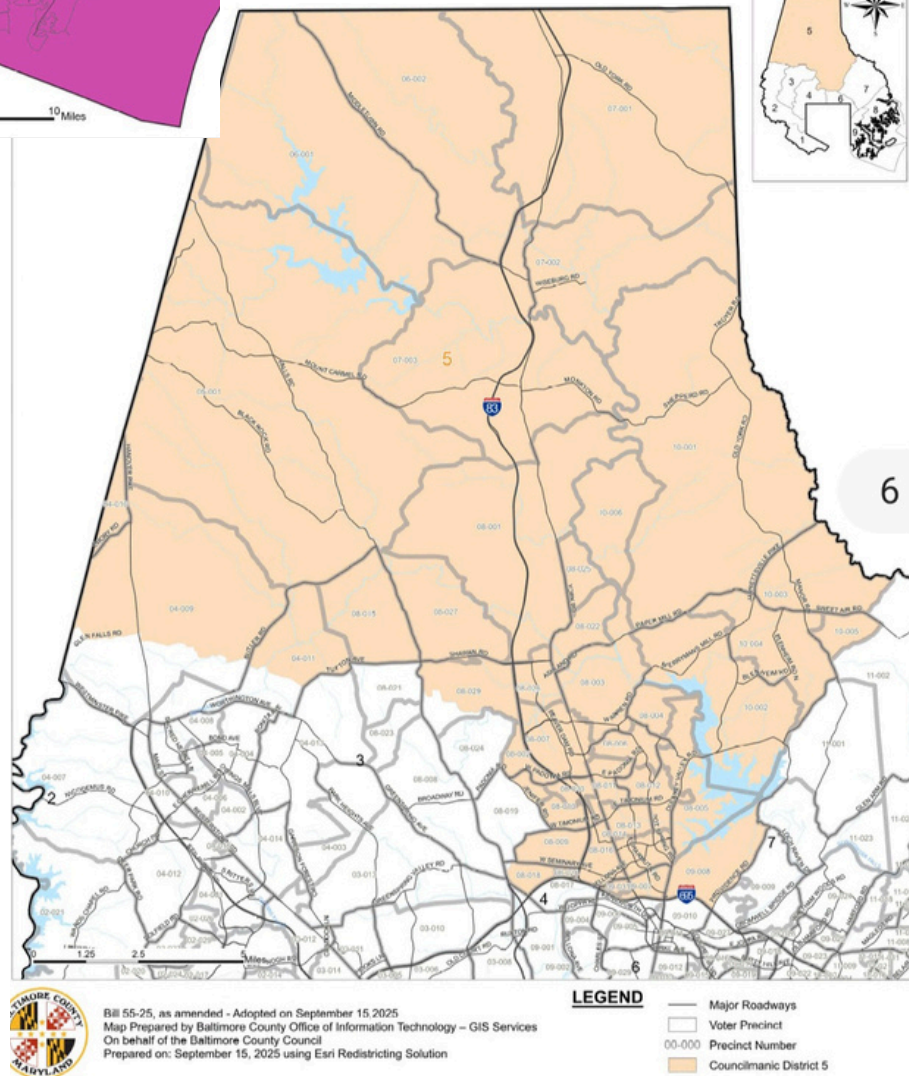

On September 15th, the Baltimore County Council approved the map shown as the final redistricting map. This map reduces the number of constituents in each district to about 75K each and adds two new districts.

Every existing district was reduced in size or changed in placement. For us the central corridor of the district remains preserved together and we were not joined with Towson.

The credit goes to all of you who answered the call, expressing your opinions by email, mail and phone to the Redistricting Commission and the County Council.

Well done!

Front Street's Artful Neighbor: Meet Kirk Seese

Ever wonder about the art—and artist—you see along Front Street and the light rail? Meet Kirk Seese, a Lutherville resident whose vibrant public sculptures turn our neighborhood into an outdoor gallery. From his home base at 1605 Front Street, Kirk installs eye-catching works that bring color and conversation to daily life.

A lifelong artist, Kirk shifted from murals to abstract sculpture, now showing pieces in 37 states and Canada. His newest creations aren't just seen nationwide; they're right here at home—blending art with community for everyone to enjoy. Kirk believes public art removes barriers and enriches our neighborhoods, and his Front Street installations keep that vision alive for the whole community.

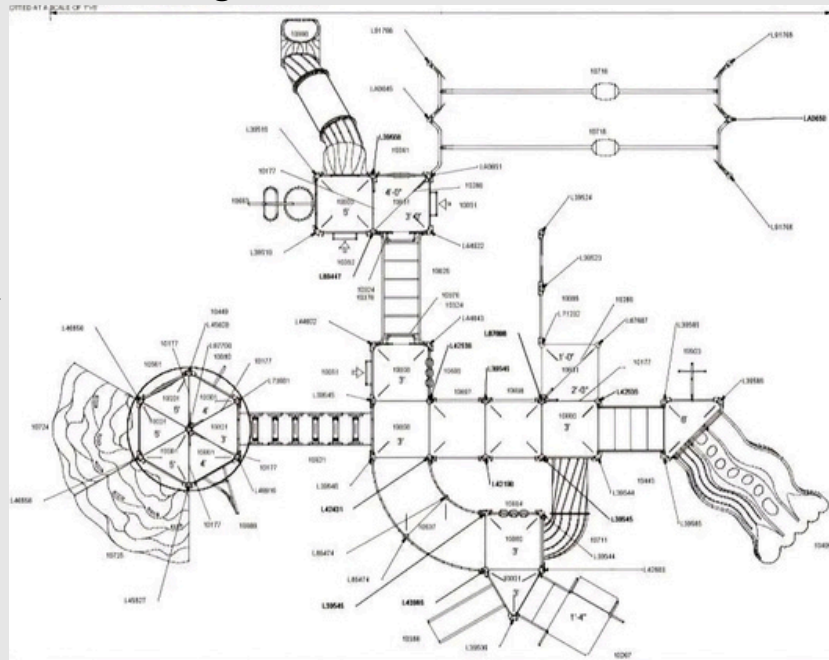

Learn more about Kirk and his work by visiting alienartifactstudios.com—or just take a stroll down Front Street to see Lutherville's own creativity in action.

Seminary Park Children's Playground Replaced

The LCA with the assistance of Councilman Kach was able to secure $300,000 to replace the equipment and make the park more accessible. The neighbors tell us that this is the third playground. The first with a big aluminum slide, a wooden train, swings and a large sandbox. It lasted a long time only being replaced by the familiar domed installation in September of 1998

How do we know? Some of that equipment had a serial number on it and the manufacturer was able to track down the original plans.

Well, it was time for something new!

Rocking the 'Hood - A Community in Tune!

This summer, Lutherville's local spirit shined bright with two unforgettable neighborhood musical events. Residents kicked off August at the high-energy Country Club Palooza and Block Party, hosted at Talbott and Notre Dame Avenue. This planning was a labor of love by the Mindel family who wanted to host an event to highlight their son's talent and love of music (His band The Butchers - an all student band - ROCKED), as well as uncover the hidden talent within our own community! The festival featured an afternoon lineup of local bands featuring residents from the neighborhood ranging in musical styles from Americana, punk, psychedelic and classic rock, all capped off by party music from DJ Spagz. Highlights included a covered dish area displaying neighbor's best dishes, face painting, and a free Kona Ice truck, drawing in music lovers of all ages for a groovy end-of-summer bash.

Not to be outdone, St. Paul's Lutheran brought neighbors together for its own Community Music Night—a celebration of friendship, faith, and tunes in a welcoming and relaxed setting. Guests enjoyed lively performances and the chance to reconnect over shared melodies and snacks, creating another memory for the neighborhood's growing musical tradition.

These events remind everyone why the community's soundtrack is always best played together.
